BADLY NEED A RAILROAD.

All the towns from New Albany to Cannelton, on the Indiana side of the Ohio river, are determined to have a railroad and have issued an appeal for assistance in their effort.

For two months the steamboats, either on account of low water or ice, have been tied up, and the inhabitants of the little towns on the Indiana side have suffered much in consequence. Hundreds of tons of farm products now lie at the wharves rotting, while the owners wait for an opportunity to ship them. Not only this, but the people have actually suffered for lack of many things which they had considered as necessities, on account of the lack of means to bring them from the cities. The loss to the farmers has put many in debt, it is reported, and the stagnation of traffic has had a corresponding effect on the business of the merchants in the towns.

The necessity for a railroad in Northern Indiana along the Ohio is imperative and the people are going to get an electric line if they can.

Miss Nancy Whittier Dead.

Fondsville, Ky., Jan. 20.—Miss Nancy Whittier died at her home near this place yesterday afternoon and was buried today. She was the last link that bound this section of Ohio county to its most distant past. Her father settled here in the closing years of the eighteenth century. He reared a large family, all members of which lived to a good old age. Nancy was the youngest of the family. Her exact age is not known, but it is certain that she was more than ninety years old. Her brother, Barton Whittier, was the first merchant in this portion of Ohio county, having a store half a mile from this place seventy-five years ago, when a very young man. He retired from business more than twenty-five years ago. His sister lived with him until his death twenty years ago, and since that time has lived with his widow.

Bills by Mr. Richardson.

Senator Gus Richardson, of this district, introduced the following bills into the State Senate last week: An act providing license tax on compounded, rectified, adulterated, blended, distilled, etc. spirits. Provide fifty cents a barrel tax for such goods and twenty-five cents for smaller packages. Act increasing pay of prison guards from $60 to $75 per month. Act providing for assessment of franchise of insurance companies by the State Board of Valuation and Assessment.

Was a Bright Child.

Mary Emma, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Stiles of Stephensport, was an exceptionally bright child for her age, which was twenty and a half. Everyone in Stephensport knew her and her death caused genuine sorrow in the community. She was ill for six weeks. On Friday, January 15, she was buried at Stephensport, and the casket was banked with flowers from many persons who loved this little girl.

Will Attend College.

Miss Benola Hall left Saturday for Bowling Green, to attend college. She will attend the fall and winter terms and return home for vacation in June. Miss Hall is the stepdaughter of C. M. Stephens, Supervisor of Track of the lower division of the Henderson Route.

Mrs. Jno. J. Williams Dead.

Mrs. Eliza Williams, wife of Capt. John J. Williams, of Owensboro, who was born in Indian Creek precinct, Hancock county, October 7, 1828, died at Owensboro Friday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Her maiden name was Eliza J. Burnett. The funeral was held Saturday at Owensboro.

Miss Jarboe Entertains.

Miss Elizabeth Jarboe entertained the Ladies' Reading Club at her home Thursday afternoon. The club has just finished reading "The Fortunes of Fifi," a delightful story. Mrs. E. G. Willis will entertain the club next Thursday.

Makes $567 on Tomatoes.

William Barton, of near King, in Gibson county, Ind., realized $567, an average of $14.90 per acre, on six acres of tomatoes, which he raised for a canning factory last year.

Paul Hardin Writes Entertainingly From Montreal.

Montreal, P. Q. Jan. 1904. Editor Brockenridge News. Cloverport, Ky., Dear Sir:—I was reared in Kentucky and have been in this city for two years, so I write to tell you of the coldest weather record ever known in this section or in the past forty years.

The thermometer here, at this writing, registers 24 below, and only last night the mercury dropped to 44 below zero. A blizzard of fifty hours has just ended here, which left a snow three feet on the level, and to thirty feet in drifts along the street curbs. The snow is piled up in huge wind rows, ten or twelve feet high, which prevent one from seeing the people on the opposite side of the street. You see more snow here in a day than in a whole lifetime in Kentucky. Everybody here wears fur coats and wraps, and sleighing and skating are favorite pastimes. No wheeled vehicles will be seen again till next May. People travel over the country on snow shoes, which are made by bending a wooden hoop into an oval about 16 inches broad by 44 wide and the sole is strong woven canvas. They are laced to the feet by lamp wicks or other strong material, and through the soles they travel over snow at any depth with great rapidity. They also have skis (pronounced skees), which is a wooden skate or runner four inches wide and seven feet long. They are used for sliding down the mountains. They proceed to the top of a mountain and slide down the slope over the snow at the enormous speed of almost a mile a minute.

Montreal could very appropriately be named the city of churches and the Catholic religion predominates. Some of the Catholic institutions are very new and costly structures. One, the Notre Dame Cathedral, is among the largest and finest in America, and has a capacity to accommodate over 11,000 people. The Canadians are very social people, though not quite so hospitable as our Southerners. I will say that, during my two years, sojourn in the Dominion, I have had no fault to find.

Yours very truly,
Paul B. Hardin.

Stemmy Has Steady Run.

The stemmy at the Pace tobacco factory, now occupied by the Dallas Limited tobacco company, has had a steady run since it began Monday of last week. About thirty hands are now employed and more will be taken on when the first rush of tobacco comes.

The tobacco delivered to the American company at its receiving shed is being shipped direct to the stemmery at Owensboro, as was done last year. This company employs about a dozen hands.

Changes in Bank Officers.

The Two States Bank, of Stephensport, will be officered as follows in 1904: R. A. Shellman, President; Dr. J. H. Lee, Vice-President; and John S. Adair, cashier. Mr. Shellman succeeded Lee C. Adair as President. The directors are R. A. Shellman, R. A. Smith, Dr. Geo. E. Shively, R. D. Hamilton, Lee C. Adair, Dr. J. H. Lee and Wm. B. Hardin. Dr. Shively, Dr. Lee and Mr. Hardin are new directors.

Not Afraid of Any Mule.

A farmer near Cape Girardeau, Mo., who means business, has put the following sign on a fence post in front of his house: "Wanted—Too lyo a mule, fifteen hands high. If you can trade come and let me see you. Don't ker leerness. Kin handle any mule this side of hell."

Son of Susan Walters.

Some of the local colored people remember Gus Gregory, a negro, who was hanged at New Madrid, Mo., a few days ago for murder, and say that he was a son of a negro woman by the name of Susan Walters. Gregory said he was born in Cloverport twenty-three years ago.

Poor Prospect For Wheat.

The outlook for a good wheat crop in this section is not flattering in the least. Dry weather in the fall and winter, cold winds without protecting snows and other detrimental conditions will cause the crop to fall short of a profitable yield.

Shipping Foundry Works.

Messrs. M. L. Christian and J. W. Pate were in Owensboro Monday and Tuesday to load and ship the balance of the machinery for the foundry for the Cloverport Foundry & Machine company's plant. The machinery is expected to arrive here today and it will require about two weeks to put it in place, if the weather is favorable. The machinery was bought from the old Southern Iron Works, at Owensboro.

The foundry has much work awaiting it from the L. H. & St. L. shops and a number of local parties and can make a steady run when it is ready to operate. The company's machine shop will soon have a number of jobs on hands from parties out in the country.

Supposed Cloverport Negro

A special from Paducah to the Louisville Times last week stated that Will Lightfoot, colored, and another negro by the name of White, are under arrest for murdering a white man from Woodstock, Tenn., who was a brakeman on the Illinois Central. It is believed here that Lightfoot is the Cloverport negro by that name who formerly lived here and recently had a position at Paducah with the Illinois Central. He was known here as Rip Walker.

Cured After Suffering 10 Years.

B. F. Hare, Supt. Miami Cycles & Mfg. Co. Middletown, O. suffered for ten years with dyspepsia. He spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and with doctors without receiving any permanent benefit. He says, "One night while feeling exceptionally bad was about to throw down the evening paper when I saw an item in the paper regarding the merits of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I concluded to try it and while I had no faith in it I felt better after the second dose. After using two bottles I am stronger and better than I have been for years, and I recommend Kodol Dyspepsia Cure to my friends and acquaintances suffering from stomach trouble." Sold by All Drug Co.

A Fortune for your Thought

If it is the only nearest correct estimate of the paid admissions to the World's Fair during May, $5,000 is the sum paid—a small fortune. Read on page 3 how to obtain this. It is easy.

Ashcraft--Benham

Miss Ethel Benham, of Big Bend, Meade county, will be married this evening at 7 o'clock to Mr. Chris. Ashcraft, of the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Benham. Mr. and Mrs. Ashcraft will visit relatives in Meade county for several days and then go to Oklahoma to reside.

Miss Benham is well-known here, where she taught in the advanced department of the public school during the term of 1902-1903. She is a niece of J. A. Barry, of this city. Mr. Ashcraft is a brother of Will Ashcraft, county clerk of Meade county. He, also, is a school teacher and has been residing for several years in Oklahoma.

Fire at Hawesville.

Fire destroyed the warehouse of the Ohio Valley Milling company at Hawesville Thursday night. As the warehouse were out of repair the company's mill, only twelve feet away, was saved by a bucket brigade. Rain was falling and a slight breeze blew away from the mill. Sacks, bags and stock, worth about $1,200, were partially saved. On this there was an insurance of $1,000. In the warehouse, valued at about $500, there was no insurance. The origin of the fire is not known.

The Megiddo is Sold.

The gospel steamboat Megiddo, which was at this point two days, the latter part of 1903, has been sold to a number of Chattanooga men, who intend to put the steamer in the trade between that city and Paducah. Since the last left here the colony that lived on it have had much bad luck and were forced to dispose of their floating church. The colony started from Minnesota and many will have trouble getting back home, as much pecuniary loss and disappointment has come to them.

New Vice-President.

J. C. Mattingly was elected Vice-President of the Bank of Cloverport last week by the directors, to succeed Dr. A. A. Simons, who is now the assistant cashier.

Navigation is Resumed.

Navigation on the Ohio river is being resumed this week. The big ice broke at Troy and Wolf creek broke last week and the last named one frozen past here in broken masses Saturday and Sunday. Most of the stream is now about clear of ice. The towboat Crescent, the first boat for weeks, passed this point Sunday evening at 6 o'clock on her way south. The Ohio and its tributaries have been rising rapidly the past week owing to heavy rains above and the breaking of the ice gorges, and much damage is being done at some points by flooded streams. The danger from floating ice has passed but it is feared that a big river will do more damage.

Chaffee Favors West Point.

Washington, Jan. 25.—West Point, Ky., now seems destined to become a permanent site for holding joint military maneuvers. The general staff of the army intends to conduct exercises there again and at the War Department that is regarded as signifying that the little Kentucky town has virtually been picked out as against other places. Today Lieut. Gen. A. R. Chaffee, the new chief of staff and head of the army, transmitted to Congress his estimates of the cost of maneuvers in 1905, and he accompanied it with a statement which shows how favorably West Point has been considered.

Mrs. Richardson III

"The Red Fox" was at Eckert's yesterday with his son, Gus Richardson, State Senator, of course, in the Red Fox. He has the emblem on his cards. He got the name chiefly because he dearly loves a fox hunt, and also because he has a red beard. Some time ago he thought he wanted to be State Treasurer, but lost out in the nomination. When not making laws at Frankfort he makes apple brandy at Guston, Ky. Mrs. Richardson is ill at Guston, and he is on his way there now.

Mr. Richardson's son has not a red beard, and no particular love for fox hunting—Sunday's Louisville Herald.

Go to Bowling Green.

Murray Blanford, of Bowling Green, was in the city Sunday visiting friends, while en route to Bowling Green to attend Cherry Bros. college. Cleve Hendrick, of near Hardinsburg, left Friday for Bowling Green to attend the same college.

Fire Near Rhodella.

Frymire, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Will Vessels, Jr., of near Rhodella, lost his residence and contents by fire last week. There was no insurance.

FINAL RAISE OVER $100,000.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—The Board of Supervisors finally adjourned last Saturday, after a session of eleven days. The total amount of the raised list as finally certified to by the Board has not yet been entered on the assessors' book, but it is thought that it will be in the neighborhood of $150,000.

In the County Court.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—In the County Court, Monday, the jury allowed John Butler $110 damage on account of the establishment of a new road, commencing at Busas and running to the Hardinsburg and Custer road to a point near W. H. Carman's.

Gets Job at Walla Walla.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Amos M. Kincheol, who went west a few weeks ago, has secured a position with a bank at Walla Walla, Wash., and will locate permanently there. He is much pleased with the country.

Lycium's Next Attraction.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—The next attraction secured by the Hardinsburg Lycium, is the Hand Bell Ringers and Male Quartet company which will appear at the City Hall on the evenings of Friday and Saturday, Feb. 5 and 6. They are said to be the most novel and versatile company now before the public, and have met with the cordial approval of their audiences, wherever they have appeared. It is hoped that the public will patronize this company liberally.

Promise Brilliant Future.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—When passing through the well-stocked store into his show window. You will see drawings in pen and ink and moldings in clay which show remarkable talent and give promise of a brilliant future. They were executed by a young man, Ernest, who is only fourteen years of age and of whom he is justly proud.

Delighted With the Country.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—D. S. Richardson and Percy M. Beard, who have been touring California, Oregon and Washington during this month, returned home Monday. They were delighted with the country, and say that beauty, productivity and business enterprise have not been exaggerated.

Grand Lodge Meeting.

The twenty-fifth session of the Grand Lodge of A. O. U. W. of Kentucky will be held at Scottish Rite Cathedral, Louisville, February 9. Special rates have been made by the railroads and a large number of delegates are expected. The headquarters will be at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

John Barn will represent the local A. O. U. W. lodge at the meeting.

Cyclone Destroys Life.

A cyclone visited Moundville, Ala., a town of 300 inhabitants, fifteen miles from Tuscaloosa, at 1 o'clock Friday morning and as a result thirty-eight persons were killed and more than 100 injured. Every business house with the exception of a small drug store was destroyed.

Telephones are Wanted.

Webster, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—A large scope of country lying between here and Lodi, Hardinsburg and Garfield, has no telephone lines. This county would like to get close to the people of the above named towns by having telephonic communication with them.

Longest Cattle Train.

The longest cattle train that ever went over the Henderson Route passed through the city Saturday afternoon, en route to Louisville. There were twenty-six cars in all and the train was pulled by two engines.

Mrs. Wm Pettit Paralyzed.

Mrs. Wm Pettit, of Stephensport, who was partially paralyzed Tuesday night of last week, is now in a critical condition and has been so the past week. As she is well advanced in age her recovery is doubtful.

CHAPTER XV.

NEXT morning the sun had made but little progress in the heavens and the dew was not yet off the grass when the party, an imposing cavalcade, issued from the manor on the return journey. Their home coming was uneventful. The barn burners had disappeared like rabbits in their holes; the manor whose master had fled, deserted even by the faithful Oly-kocks, was seen for the last time from the brow of the hill, and then, with its gables and extensive wings, vanished from sight.

"Well," remarked Barnes as they sped down the road, "it was a happy coincidence for me that led the anti-enters to the patron's house last night."

And he proceeded to explain how when he had sought the magistrate he found that official organizing a posse comitatus for the purpose of quelling an anticipated uprising of leaseholders. In answer to the manager's complaint the custodian of the law had asserted his first duty was generally to preserve the peace; afterward he would attend to Barnes' particular grievance. Obligated to content himself as best he might with this meager assurance, the manager, at his wit's end and accompanied the party whose way had led him in the direction of the carriage had taken and whose final destination—an unhelped for continuation—had proved the ultimate goal of his own desires. On reaching, that afternoon, the town where they were playing Susan was the first of the company to greet Constance.

"Now that it's all over," she laughed, "rather envy you that you were rescued by such a handsome cavalier."

"Really," drawled Kate, "I should have preferred not being rescued. The owner of a coach, a coat of arms, silver harness and the best horses in the country? I could drive on forever!"

But later, alone with Susan, she looked hard at her.

"So you fainted yesterday?"

"Oh, I'm a perfect coward!" returned the other frankly.

Kate's mind rapidly essayed the rough and troubled path of a highland sea upon which they had embarked so long ago.

"Dear me!" she remarked quietly, and Susan turned to conceal a blush.

Owing to the magistrate's rescue the players' success that night was great.

"The hail was filled to overflowing," says the manager in his date book. "At the end of the second act the little girl was called out, and, much to her own discomfiture, the magistrate presented her with a written speech. Taking advantage of the occasion, he pointed a political moral from the tale and referred to his own candidacy to the legislature, where he would look after the interests of the rank and file. It was time the landowners were taught their places—not by violence, oh, no; no French methods for Americans—but by ballot, not by bullet. Let the people vote for an amendment to the constitution!"

"As we were preparing to leave the theater the magistrate appeared behind the scenes," said the manager. "Mr. Barnes, you will appear against the patron?" he said. "His prosecution will do much to fortify the issue."

"That is all very fine," he returned satirically. "But will the Lord provide while we are trying the case? Shall counted. The least of the strollers' troubles, however, is this cruel period of their wanderings were the bad roads, the wanderings being a temperance orator who thundered forth denunciations of rum and the theater with the bitterness of a Juvenal inveighing prodigal Rome.

Whatever he was, poet, orator and dramatist, an English Gaiety, or "mousethank," "dumbago" or "backslider," Mr. Gough was even at that early period an antagonist not to be despised. He had been out of pocket and out of the show, and his wardrobe now was mean and scanty. Want and privation had been his companions, and from his grievous experiences he had become a seasoned story teller of low life and penury. Certainly Barnes had reason to lament the coincidence which brought players and lecturer into the same town, especially as the latter was herded under the auspices of the Band of Hope.

Exceptional inducements could not tempt the villagers to the theater. Even an epilogue gained for them none of Mr. Gough's adherents. "The Temperance Doctor," "Dumbago's Warning," admonished pitifully few, while as for "Drunkard's Doom" no one cared what it might be and left him to it.

After such a disastrous engagement the manager not only found himself at the end of his resources, but hopelessly indebted, and with much reluctance he laid the matter before the soldier, who had already advanced a certain sum after their conversation on the night of the country dance and had also come to his assistance on an occasion when the box office receipts and expenses had failed to meet. Moreover, he had been a free, even careless, giver, not looking after his business concerns with the prudent anxiety of a merchant whose ventures are ships at the risk of a wreck, and who, to this third application, however, he did not answer immediately.

"Is it as bad as that?" he said at length thoughtfully.

"Yes, it's hard to speak about it to you," replied the manager, with some embarrassment, "but at New Orleans—"

The soldier encountered his troubled gaze. "See if you can sell my horse," he answered.

"You mean?" began the other, surprised.

"Hanged if I will!" exclaimed the manager. "Then he put out his hand impulsively. 'I beg your pardon. If I had known—but if we're ever out of this mess I may give a better account of my stewardship.'"

In spite of Barnes' refusal the soldier offered to sell his horse to the landlord, but the latter early declined, saying horses enough to "eat their heads off" during the winter, as he expressed it.

Thus it was that the strollers' perforce reached a desperate conclusion when making their way from the theater on the last evening. By remaining longer they would become the more hopelessly involved, in addition, without their horse's permission they would be taking the shortest route toward an honorable settlement in the near future—a paradoxical sight, from the point of view of the manager, to meet them squarely. This, to Barnes, ample reason for unceremonious departure was heartily approved by the soldier in council assembled around the town pump.

"Stay and become a county burden, indeed!" exclaimed Mrs. Adams tragically.

"As well be buried alive as anchored here!" fretfully adjoined Susan.

"The council is dissolved," said the manager promptly, "with no one the wiser—except the town pump."

"An ally of Mr. Gough," suggested Adams.

Thus more merely than could have been expected, with such a distasteful enterprise before them, they resumed their way. It was disagreeable to the foot, and they presented an odd appearance, each one with a light. Mrs. Adams, old campaigner that she was, led the way for the ladies, clad in an old dress as though promenade down Broadway on a spring morning. With their lanterns and the purpose they had in view they looked like a band of conspirators. As Barnes marched ahead with his light Susan playfully called him Guy Fawkes of gunpowder fame, and he, in turn, almost misgave him concerning the grave adventure upon which they were embarked.

Tru wind was blowing furiously, doors and windows creaked, and all the demons of winter were moaning that night in the hubbub of sounds. Save for a flicker of candle in the hall the tavern was dark, and landlord and maids had long since retired to rest. And the noise of the rain and the sobbing of the wind were heard from the window, the chariot and property wagon were drawn from the stable yard and the horses led to the stable. In a trice they were ready and the ladies, wrapped in their cloaks, were in the coach. But the clatter of hoofs, the neighing of a horse or some other untoward circumstance aroused the landlord. A window in the second story shot up and out popped a head in a nightcap.

"Here! What are you about?" cried the man.

"Leaving!" said the manager laconically.

The landlord threw up his arms like Shylock at the loss of his money bags.

"The reckoning?" he exclaimed.

"What about the reckoning?"

"Your pound of flesh, sir!" replied Barnes.

"My score!" Mr. Score" shouted the other. "You would not leave without settling it!"

"Go to bed, sir," was the answer.

"and let honest people depart without hindrance. You will be paid out of our first profits."

But the man was not so easily appeased. "Robbers! Constable!" he screamed.

Conceiving it better to be gone without further parley, having secured him of their honorable intentions, Barnes was about to lash the horses when Kate suddenly exclaimed:

"Where's Constance?"

"Isn't she inside?" asked the manager quickly.

"No; she isn't here."

"Oh, I sent her back to get something for me I had forgotten," spoke up Mrs. Adams, "and she hasn't returned yet."

"Sent her back! Madam, you have ruined everything!" burst out Barnes bitterly.

"Mr. Barnes, I won't be spoken to like a child!"

"Child, frigate!"—into which a sudden knock interrupted them at a window next to that occupied by the landlord, stood Constance!

For a tipset or a ruff or some equally wretched frigate, carelessly left by the old lady, all their plans for deliverance appeared likely to miscarry.

Presumably Constance, turned from her original purpose to the noisy altercation, had hurried to the window, where now the landlord perceived her and immediately availed himself of the advantage offered.

"So one of you is left behind," he shouted excitedly. "And it's the leading lady! I'll take care she stays here until after a settlement. I'll stop you yet! Stealing away in the middle of the night, you—your vagabonds!"

His voice, growing louder and louder, ended in a shrieking crescendo. Disheartened, there seemed no alternative for the players save to turn back and surrender unconditionally. Barnes ended in a deep sigh as he uttered a tipset: Their dash for freedom had been but a sorry attempt! Now he saw visions of prison bars and uttered a groan when the soldier, who was riding his own horse, dashed forward beneath the window and stood upright in his stirrups.

"Do not be afraid, Miss Carey," he said.

Fortunately the window was low and the distance inconsiderable, but Barnes held his breath, hoping the hazard would deter her.

"Do not, my dear?" he began.

But she did not hesitate. The sight of the landlord's figure and the strong arms apparently reassured her, and she stepped upon the sill.

"Quick!" he exclaimed, and at the word she dropped into his waiting arms. Scarcely had she escaped, however, before the landlord was seen at the same window. So astonished was he to find her gone that he uttered a volley of oaths that would have shamed a whale's master.

"Come back!" he cried. "Come back or I'll shoot!"

The alternative was lost in vengeful imprecation.

Holding Constance before him, the soldier resumed his saddle. "Drive on!" he cried to Barnes as past the chariot sped his horse with its double burden.

B. B. BARBEE, OF THIS CITY, WRITES FROM TEXAS.

San Antonio, Texas, Jan. 1, 1904.

Dr. William Howard, Mattingly, Ky.

Dear Uncle: I am temporarily stationed at this old Spanish town, at Fort San Houston, named from the warrior of Texas. There are some signs of the war here yet. One thing is the old St. Alamo mission, built in 1718 by the Franciscan monks, where Col. Bowie and his gallant band of 175 men were slaughtered, in 1836, by Santa Anna and 5,000 Mexicans, after their ammunition was exhausted. Among the slaughtered was the noble David Crockett.

There were 60,000 inhabitants, with little work of any kind to do. I don't see how the lower classes live; no manufactures or any industry to employ the common people. There are many people of Spanish descent here, nearly everybody talks Spanish fairly well. The streets are narrow and are paved with red cedar blocks cut in octagons. The sidewalks are so narrow that one is often crowded off.

The climate is fine. Roses are in bloom and palms are green. Alamo "plaza" (a park) is very beautiful.

I like the town and people, but I don't like this post. It's too old to last. I enlisted Oct. 19, and was at Columbus, O., for eight weeks. I will leave here in a few days.

Our "B. Y. P. U." is doing good work, and as sweet as they can be—mostly young ladies; however they are hoping to "take in" some young men and thereby strengthen the organization and increase the fellowship. We had the honor of entertaining this Society during Christmas, and our hearts were made glad as H. H. Kemper, our efficient and honored cashier of the "First State Bank" of Irvington, presented, by a certain polished speech, a handsome set of silver spoon spoons as a present from the B. Y. P. U. to pastor and wife. Yes, I am a happy pastor, and my heart goes out to God, the giver of all this, with a deep feeling of gratitude. He has given me the work—the two fields. He is giving me ability to do some work for Him in these fields, and to Him be all the glory. May the Lord bless us, and cause us to be "laborers together with Him." I feel honored to be able to sign myself

They tonic and strengthen the liver. Sold by All Drug Co.

Was Noted For His Strength.

Chas. Braxton, a middle-aged negro, died last Wednesday morning of consumption, after an illness of about nine months. His funeral was preached Thursday by Rev. Fielding, of the African Methodist church, and the interment was in the colored cemetery. No near relatives survive.

Braxton was noted for his physical strength, having performed many feats in doing heavy lifting while at work. He was of a medium size and weight, but was the strongest man in this city and probably in the county.

Hall's Family Pills are a best.

Attracted Much Attention.

An ice floe, several acres in area, in the Ohio in front of this city attracted much attention Thursday. It was in the middle of the ice stream, but remained stationary all day, although there were no obstructions visible that could prevent it from moving. It is supposed that it was aground, which meant that the ice was about fifteen feet thick. The ice was discolored, soft and rotten and only a few inches showed above the water.

Domestic Troubles.

It is exceptional to find a family where there are no domestic ruptures occasionally, but these can be lessened by having Dr. King's New Life Pills around. Much trouble they save by their great work in stomach and bowels. They not only relieve you, but cure. 25c, at Short & Haynes Drug Store.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1904.

The News is in receipt of last week's issue of the Monroe Democrat, of Monroe, Michigan, which devotes a page to an interesting and thrilling account of the bloody River Raisin Massacre, when 400 brave Kentuckians were taken prisoners by the British general, Proctor, and murdered by his Indian allies. This wholesale butchery, which occurred on the 21st and 22nd of the present month, just ninety-one years ago, is the bloodiest and most appalling page in the history of the northwest.

Prof. John Clark, one of the pioneer educators of Hancock county, and one of the finest mathematicians of the State, died last Wednesday at Lewisport, at the age of seventy. Prof. Clark began teaching in Hancock county, at Hawesville, sixty years ago. For sometime he conducted Ford's seminary, near Pellville, which was an academic school largely attended. He was the author of a grammar of the English grammar, which he prepared with care, but never published. The funeral was held Thursday and the interment was in the family cemetery near Lewisport.

The Right Rev. Thomas Underwood Dudley, Episcopal Bishop of Kentucky, died suddenly Friday afternoon before a physician could be summoned to the Aldrich home, 200 Madison avenue, New York. Bishop Dudley was a great instructor, soldier and clergyman and was known and loved by thousands of people in Kentucky. The news of his death was a great shock throughout the State. The funeral was held in Louisville. Bishop Dudley, on several occasions, had lectured in the churches of this city and was known to many here who were shocked and grieved at his death.

The eyes of all the world will be turned towards St. Louis during the year 1904. Everybody will want to get from first hands the news of the greatest World's Fair which the world has ever seen. Our readers are advised, therefore, to subscribe for the greatest St. Louis newspaper—a newspaper which acknowledges no equal or rival in all the West, and which stands in the front rank among the great newspapers of the world. Subscribe for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and get all the news of the World's Fair, all the news of the earth. See advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

THE PROSPERITY OF BRECKENRIDGE COUNTY.

According to the statements of all the banks in Breckenridge county the amount of money now on deposit is as follows:

Bank of Hardinsburg	$28,200.00
Breckenridge Bank	125,100.00
First State Bank	42,100.00
F. H. Shelton & Co.	42,100.00
Two State Bank	25,000.00
Farmer Bank	25,000.00
Bank of Cloverport	17,200.00
Bank of Uniontown	17,200.00
Total	$484,784.44

On Jan. 1, 1890, we had only one bank, the Breckenridge bank, with deposits of $151,921.98. Now we have eight, with deposits amounting to $484,784.44, showing an increase of over 300 per cent. This is certainly a very creditable showing and one that we all should be proud of. It shows that we are not retrograding, but are pushing forward with the balance of the country. In fact, Breckenridge is one of the wealthiest counties in the state, according to population. The amount of money to her credit per capita on deposit alone is $167.20, and when you include the capital, surplus, and money in the stockings of the people it will amount to as much more. Surely, when we take a retrospect of the past, we ought to have no kicking ground, for we are doing better every year instead of poorer. We were not only got more banks and more money but we have more and better cattle, hogs, horses, mules. Our farms are in a better state of cultivation, better houses and barns, better schools and, in fact, we have everything that goes to make life worth the living.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour belching, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

—Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says— "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in our family."

NOTICE TAX-PAYERS!

I have promised some to notify them before I was COMPELLED to have their taxes. So I take this means of telling all persons owing taxes to get ready to settle. I must have it. Now I am going to give you the remainder of this month to get ready—that is, collect up your money. After this month, be ready, for you will be visited and your money must come. You can't put off death when the time comes, and it is said only death and taxes are certain. I am dealing fair with all. I don't need your money personally, but the man I owe does need his. Now, if your property is advertised, who is to blame?

Good Clothes and Good Stationery.

There is an old saying like this: "Judge a man not by his clothes, but by his face." The saying holds good on some occasions, but when a man applies it 365 days in the year he finds himself a loser in the end. So it is with cheap stationery. Cheap clothes and everything else you had good when you called on her—simply because you were after the "best" and of course used the best in your possession and power to get the "best." It is the same way with business, if you want the best you must go after it with the best—the best stationery. Like we turn out, for instance. If you don't know about the work we turn out, write us and we will gladly inform you. Thanks to you for reading this—but if you will abide by its meaning it will be mutually profitable.

FRYMIRE

Johnny Claycomb has moved to the Gate Brown place, to farm this year.

Miss E. Gettride Allen leaves today for a visit at Irvington, Ekron and Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Graham, and Miss Sigler, of Louisville, were guests of Mr. Dick Popham Sunday.

Miss Ida B. Wheeler and her brother, Morton Wheeler, of Louisville, visited at J. W. Barr's Sunday evening.

Mr. Hammett, formerly of Indiana, who has recently moved to this community, seems to be an industrious up to date farmer and we are glad to have him for our neighbor.

Mr. Dodson, a new citizen of this place, formerly of Perry county, Ind., is trying to organize a farmers' insurance company. The farmers are taking with the idea and, if Mr. Dodson succeeds, it is thought the company will benefit them greatly.

R. L. Newsom's Column.

Now, my friends, I advise you not to read the following list if you expect to hold on to your money, as the temptation will be very great to invest it in some of the bargains offered.

What is the use of always renting property when you can buy? I have several pieces of property which have paid for themselves three times.

I shall take pleasure in driving you around and showing you the city property.

ORDER BY NUMBER.

I also have an Austin Stone Crusher with 12-horse power.

Eclipse (Erick) Engine, which I will dispose of on reasonable terms.

Good elevator attached and all suitable appliances for making good roads.

Can crush stone as fast as two men can feed it, and can be set to crush it into dust.

Engine power sufficient to run a saw mill.

Come to R. L. Newsom if you want Deeds, Mortgages, Agreements and other writings done up in legal shape and in good literary form—papers that will stand before any legal tribunal.

He also acts as Notary Public for Breckenridge county.

Attention to the making out and certifying of Pension Certificates.

New Telephone Line

The new telephone line being built from Union Star to Hardinsburg by the farmers residing along the route, will be completed this week.

When this line is completed Union Star will have connections with Sample, Stephensport, Ansonia, Rhodelia, and other neighboring towns, all by private lines and independent of the Cumberland and Home telephone companies. On all the lines there are nearly 100 telephone boxes.

Relief for Children.

It is not often that a publisher has the opportunity to investigate very closely the merits of articles advertised in his columns. It is with pleasure, therefore, that we refer our readers to that most invaluable relief for all children's diseases—Owen's Pink Mixture—which will be found illustrated in another column.

This remedy is the formula of a famous old doctor and has been on the market for more than twenty years. It is pleasant and perfect in its cure, contains no opiate or narcotic. We are also pleased to say that this remedy will be found on sale in both 25 and 50c bottles by—all Druggists.

Among the Sick.

Mrs. Price Graham has been quite sick the past week.

The condition of Mrs. Jeff Hawkins, of Tobiasport, who has been sick for several weeks, remains unimproved.

The condition of Mrs. W. L. McCracken shows no improvement.

Miss Mary Oglesby is among the sick this week.

Mr. Geo. Oglesby is very ill at his home on Green river, and E. B. Oglesby, of this city, his brother, is at his bedside.

Mr. Mollie McCracken, who has been quite ill, is slowly improving.

Likes Kentucky Best.

Phoenix, Ind., Jan. 7, 1904. Mr. J. D. Babbage, Dear Sir: You will find enclosed $1.00 for my subscription to the Breckenridge News.

I was born and reared in Breckenridge county near Union Star and have often been in Cloverport. We live in northern Indiana. This is a beautiful part of the State but I love the hills of old Kentucky the best. So please send me the News, which I wish success.

Yours truly

Mrs. Callis Shrawberry.
